MAPPING EARLY AMERICAN TRADE ROUTES

I. On the map provided, label the following places. The name in parenthesis is the name currently used for these places.

Atlantic Ocean
Pacific Ocean
Indian Ocean
South China Sea
Boston
Salem
Cape of Good Hope
Cape Horn
Straits of Magellan
Northwest Coast
West Indies
Sandwich Islands (Hawaii)
East Indies
Philippines
Formosa (Taiwan)

India
Sumatra
Ceylon (Sri Lanka)
Madagascar
Canary Islands
Capetown
Cape Verde Islands
Isle of France (Mauritius)
Java Head
Strait of Sunda
Batavia (Jakarta)
Macao
Canton
Smyrna (Izmir)

II. Use the reading as a guide to draw the following routes taken by the Boston and Salem ships. Use a different color for each of the routes and provide a legend on the map to indicate the color used for the different routes.

On your map, draw:

1. the outward bound leg of the Boston traders;
2. the outward bound leg of the Salem traders;
3. the usual homeward bound route of most traders.